Pete

AND

Drono

By

One bright and peaceful day, Pete the prairie dog woke up. He took a relaxing bubble bath. Then he was about to go outside for his morning walk. He noticed a rock was blocking his entrance outside so he walked back to bed.

When he looked back the rock was gone so he poked his head out of his hole. A troll towered over him.

The troll said "Hey there little fella! My name's Sniffy the Troll". Sniffy picked him up and said "Ain't this the strangest rock? It was blocking your entrance. Sorry to scare you". Then he giggled. "Don't worry, I don't hurt prairie dogs".

Then he heard a CRACK. "Jeepers, creepers", he said. "That's no rock. Ouch", Sniffy screamed. The rock in his had was burning hot. He dropped the rock and said "Sugar in the morning, that's not a rock at all, that's an egg!"

Then all of a sudden a crocodile-looking face popped right out of the egg. Sniffy yelled "Mother make me pancakes, it's a dragon!"

Sniffy rubbed the dragon's nose and said "Isn't he the cutest little thing?". Then the dragon bit him. "Ouch", said Sniffy, "that bugger has teeth! Bugs in my pants!", said Sniffy. "We have to find this little dragon's mommy. Poor little guy without his mommy."

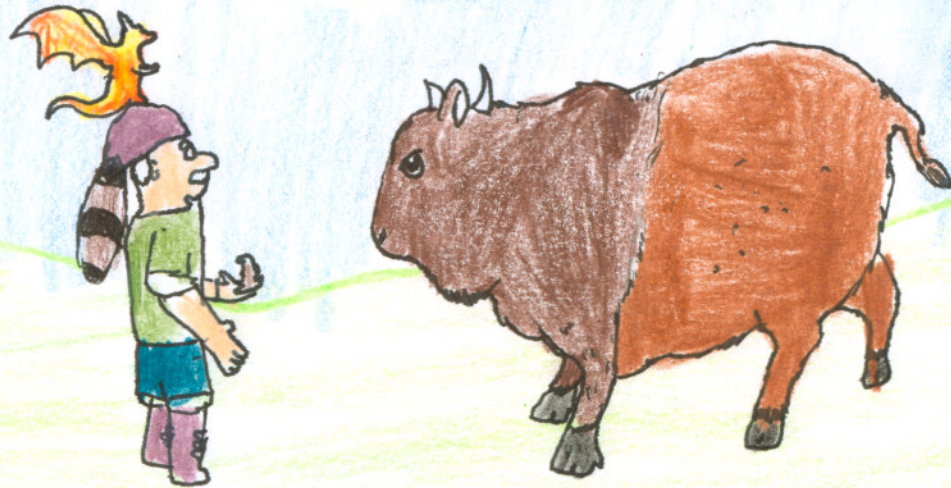

Then they heard a big crack. Sniffy, Pete and the dragon were scared but then they realized it was a bison.

Sniffy said "Have you seen a dragon?"

The bison said "He is on your head".

"No", said Sniffy, "a mommy dragon".

"Yeah", said the bison, "she went down to the pond. Hop on! I'll take you there".

So they rode on the bison down to the pond. A mommy dragon was there. They gave the baby dragon to his mommy and she said "I'm so glad you found my baby".

Sniffy said "All in a day's work!".

They started to leave but then Sniffy asked "What's his name?".

"Drono" she said.

But before Pete and Sniffy went up the hill Drono hugged them both. They went back to Pete's hole feeling happy.
